

BEE FACTS

Warm Hugs: In the winter, bees crowd together in a big ball and shiver to keep each other warm.

A single honeybee will produce only about one and a half teaspoons of honey in its lifetime.

Honey bees beat their wings two hundred times per second, creating their distinctive buzzing sound.

Bees have five eyes. They have two large compound eyes and three small simple eyes.

Fuzzy Coats: Bees are covered in tiny hairs. These hairs act like velcro to catch yellow pollen.

Big Families: Thousands of bees live together in one big, happy home called a hive.
